DEMOCRATS CONTROL CONGRESS

REPUBLICANS BLAME THE HAOLE VOTERS

ENOUGH VOTES THROWN OUT TO CHANGE COUNTY RESULT SAYS DEMOCRATIC LEADER

"I still think that I was right in my predictions as to the general result," said Col. C. J. McCarthy, chairman of the Democratic county committee this morning. "I believe that a final careful analysis of the figures will show that we had the votes on the county ticket. It appears that a lot of our votes were thrown out because the voters made the mistake of voting for too many supervisors. They were mostly our voters, and meant to vote our ticket. I do not charge that ballots were unfairly thrown out. As far as I have yet heard, the ballots rejected were properly rejected, but all the same they were ballots which, as far as intention goes, were for our county ticket."

"On the Congressional result, we were of course not altogether united. The platform adopted by the Territorial convention was one which a number of influential Democrats did not approve. It was, however, adopted by a majority of the convention. The fact remained that some of the leading Democrats would not approve its policies.

"Leaving this Congressional issue aside, I still think that our county campaign was won. Returns are not yet sufficiently accurate to be analyzed, but from all the reports we have so far received, I think that enough of our votes were thrown out because of mistakes made by the voters, to have changed the general county results."

The colonel told of one voter whose territorial ballot must have been cast out. The voter in question appeared at Democratic headquarters with a report of how he had done his duty. "I voted for Kuhio," he said, "and I voted for McCandless, but I'd be— if I'd vote for Notley."

Discouraged as he was, Col. McCarthy was able to laugh at this brilliant sample of loyalty to his campaign. "And two years from now," he remarked this noon, with all the vigor to be expected of a campaigner who had been on the lid all yesterday, all night and all this morning, "we'll beat 'em to a finish."

REMARKABLE SCENE AT THE REPUBLICAN HEADQUARTERS; THE HAOLE VOTERS' BAD FAITH

There was a remarkable scene at the Republican headquarters this morning when Delegate Kuhio addressed a large gathering of Republican campaigners, nearly all Hawaiians, and in bitter terms rebuked the haole voters of the Fourth district who failed to keep political good faith with Hawaiian workers for the party. The returns had clearly showed that the principal Republican losses were due, as has happened before, to bad faith among the haole voters, and that the Hawaiians had kept their promises at the polls, as usual. The depth of feeling was shown by the fact that during Kuhio's speech something like a hundred men were actually weeping.

Treasurer-elect Shingle first addressed the gathering, when it was finally conceded that Fern had beaten Lane. He declared that the defeat of Fern was due to scratching in the Fourth district, by men who preached the straight ticket but didn't practice what they preached. "You did your part and kept good faith," said Shingle, "but we have lost some of fices because the haoles in the Fourth didn't keep faith." Shingle thanked the crowd for work done for him, and then Kuhio made an address which is without a parallel in politics here.

The delegate said that he would rather have lost himself than have seen the other losses suffered by the Republicans. He praised the large crowd of workers present for their faithful work. "You did your duty and kept faith at the polls," he said. "Some of the haoles in the Fourth did not. It is due to them that we lost what we did."

"I am ashamed to belong to a party of which members will be guilty of such political dishonesty as this. They talked and argued straight ticket and you kept faith with them. But they didn't keep faith with you." Kuhio said further that he couldn't blame them if they deserted a party whose members could act with such treachery.

In general discussions today special reference was made to the Thomas square precinct, which repeated former performances in voting an anti-Hawaiian race-line ticket. "It is the same story of two and four years ago," said the politicians. "The Hawaiians kept faith at the polls. They vote for haoles all down the line. But there is a haole element in the Fourth which votes on race lines against Hawaiians. They vote crooked and it is nothing less than dishonesty."

Lane was defeated, as last time, by Fourth district scratching. So was Cox. And the men who scratched shouted for "straight tickets" to get their Congressional and legislative tickets in.

"The Fifth delivered the goods again," say the disgruntled politicians, "and the Fourth once more played crooked."

HOME RULE PARTY PASSES AWAY; FERN ELECTED, QUINN OUT

The Home Rule party passed out of existence yesterday, and the Democratic and Republican parties met in a very hard battle, aside from the Congressional issue, in which the Republican delegate, Kalaniana'ole, had a walk-over. The vote for Notley for delegate to Congress and the vote for the Home Rule candidates for the Senate and the supervisors were so small that yesterday may be regarded as the death of the Home Rule party. Kalaniana'ole, president of the party, led the votes on this island, and in all the precincts his total was 193 votes.

Notley, running for delegate to Congress, got 55 votes in the entire Fourth district, and 115 in the Fifth. The returns indicate that the disbanding Home Rule party gave its strength to Kuhio.

Lane for mayor, Cox for sheriff, Simerson for deputy sheriff and Quinn for supervisor were the total Republican losses. McClellan was the Democratic supervisor to win. Up to the last few days of the campaign few Republicans would have claimed the Fifth district Representative ticket. But it was a clean sweep. The Senatorial ticket went through as expected. Kalaniana'ole led the Democratic senatorial vote.

Kuhio's majority is the biggest he ever had, and, of course, it is universally regarded as settling forever the aspirations of L. L. McCandless to represent the Democratic party of Hawaii. Upon the shoulders of McCandless many Democrats place the blame for their losses of other offices. Their party is no longer of any importance in the territorial legislature, returns from Maui, Hawaii and Kauai showing that the Republicans are in control with bigger majorities than they had last time.

Throughout the Fourth and Fifth districts, the Republican majorities for the legislative ticket were substantial. There never was any real question after the count was begun, about the result of the voting for the members of the legislature.

The excitement over several of the county offices lasted until noon today. Not until after nine o'clock was it quite certain that Lane was defeated for mayor, and it was nearly noon before Democrats conceded that McClellan was the only supervisor they had elected.

The vote was close at the finish between Harry Murray on the Republican ticket and Petrie on the Democratic. The defeat of Supervisor Quinn for reelection was made clear early during the count, and the question was whether McClellan or Petrie would beat him. McClellan won out, and then came the final tussle. For a long time it was a question, as the count in the fourteenth of the Fifth proceeded, whether Petrie would be able to overcome Murray's lead. At the end of the count Murray was safe and six Republican supervisors are elected.

The elected candidates are:

Delegate,
J. K. Kalaniana'ole,

Shingle's victory over Trent was by a substantial margin, and Cathcart beat Thayer for county attorney by a sufficient majority to make his election sure soon after the count began. The offices of county clerk and auditor were never in doubt and little interest attached to the vote for these offices.

Tables giving the complete vote for the various offices are published on page five of this issue of The Star.

RESULTS ON THE BIG ISLAND

(Wireless to The Star.)

HILO, November 9.—Every Republican candidate on this island has been elected excepting one supervisor, two members of the house, and one senator. The Republicans made a sweep beyond their expectations. Makekau and Hewitt are elected to the senate. The successful candidates for the house include Alfonso, Hale, Moanau, Rickard, Holstein and Makekau.

Not a single Democrat has been elected to any office except County Treasurer Maguire, who had no opposition. The men elected in opposition to Republicans are Home Rulers.

The count shows Kuhio 1787, McCandless 742, Notley 484.

EVEN THE SENATE IS LOST TO THE REPUBLICANS

(Associated Press Cable to The Star.)

SAN FRANCISCO, November 9.—Hiram Johnson, Republican candidate for governor, is elected by about 20,000 plurality. All of the eight Congressmen elected are Republicans.

CHICAGO, November 9.—Returns received by the congressional campaign committees show that the Democrats will have a working majority in the next House of Representatives and will probably control the Senate.

In the election yesterday 221 Democrats were successful and 157 Republicans and one Socialist won. In twelve districts the result is still in doubt.

The net gain to the Democrats in the returns so far in is 49. This gives the Democrats a majority of 24 in the House.

The elections of state legislatures indicate that the Republicans have practically lost control of the Senate also. The result is close, but the Republicans are reasonably certain of a majority of one in the Senate. With some of the Republicans insurgent, however, this means loss of Republican control.

California, Nevada, and Washington have gone Republican. Oregon is probably Democratic. Idaho and Montana are doubtful. In Indiana the legislature will be Democratic by a small majority and will choose a Democrat to succeed Senator Albert J. Beveridge.

Ohio, West Virginia and Pennsylvania have gone Republican. Missouri is in doubt but is probably Democratic.

BOSTON, Mass., November 9.—Foss, the Democratic candidate for governor, has carried the state by 32,976.

NEW YORK, November 9.—The later returns show that Dix, the Democratic candidate for governor, has about 60,000 plurality.

CLEVELAND, O., November 9.—The re-election of Governor Harmon is claimed by Democrats by a plurality of 80,000.

TAFT OFF FOR PANAMA.

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 9.—President Taft left today for Panama, to inspect the canal work and study the problem of a permanent form of government for the canal zone.
